Attorney General Becerra,

The undersigned community organizations respectfully request that you initiate a pattern or practice investigation into the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department (“LASD”). For decades, LASD has been rife with corruption, abuse of power, impunity—leading, notably, to the federal conviction of former Sheriff Lee Baca and the restructuring of oversight mechanisms, including the creation of the Office of Inspector General (“OIG”) and the Sheriff’s Civilian Oversight Commission (“COC”). In the last two years under Sheriff Alex Villanueva, however, LASD has undergone a sweeping undoing of these reforms, undermining basic accountability and civilian oversight at every turn and systematically violating state transparency laws.¹

From the moment Villanueva was elected, he sought to reinstate Carl Mandoyan and other sheriff’s deputies fired for serious misconduct.² His actions have sent a clear message to

² Even before being sworn in, and demonstrating an utter lack of concern for sexual assault survivors whom the Sheriff’s Department is sworn to protect, Villanueva rehired Caren Carl Mandoyan, a deputy who volunteered on his campaign and had been fired for physically assaulting and strangling his ex-girlfriend, breaking down her bathroom door, attempting to break into her home on two separate occasions, sending her threatening text messages indicating he was surveilling her, and then lying about his actions. See Office of Inspector Gen. Cnty. of L.A., L.A., Initial Implementation by the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department of the Truth and Reconciliation Process (July 2019), available at https://oig.lacounty.gov/Portals/OIG/Reports/TruthandReconciliation.pdf?ver=2019-07-09-085916-457. At great cost to taxpayers, the Board of Supervisors had to bring a lawsuit, and on August 19, 2019, the court overturned Mandoyan’s rehiring. See Matt Stiles & Maya Lau, Judge overturns Sheriff Villanueva’s rehiring of a fired L.A. County deputy, L.A. deputies that they will not face accountability for misconduct, resulting in terrible costs in deputy violence that the reforms were supposed to address. Since the horrific murder of George Floyd on May 25, LASD has killed 11 community members, including Fred Williams III this past Friday, October 16.3

Villanueva’s extraordinary failure of leadership is exemplified by his stonewalling independent investigations in LASD’s recent killings of 18-year-old Andres Guardado and Dijon Kizze.4 After LASD Compton station deputy Michael Vega executed Andres Guardado, LASD proceeded to cover up the evidence, including by destroying security cameras and putting a “security hold” on the autopsy.5 The Guardado family’s independent autopsy concluded that deputy Vega—who is alleged to have been a prospective Compton “Executioners” sheriff’s deputy gang member and who had a history of misconduct—shot Andres Guardado five times in the back and killed him; the L.A. County Medical Examiner-Coroner confirmed this finding when he released autopsy results in an unprecedented break with LASD’s “security hold.”6 Villanueva condemned the Coroner and has brazenly refused to cooperate with an independent investigation by the OIG.7 To add insult to injury, Villanueva’s chief of staff posted on his Facebook page that Andres Guardado “CHOSE his fate.”8

Villanueva’s mishandling of the murders of Andres Guardado and Dijon Kizze reflects an extraordinary pattern of abuse, secrecy, and thwarted accountability that has marred his tenure. He has allowed the systematic harassment of grieving families of community members whom deputies have killed—in retaliation against their seeking the truth about their deaths and justice.9 In violation of LASD’s own policies, he has killed active investigations into serious misconduct involving criminal allegations such as child abuse, domestic violence, and rape of a woman in custody.\(^\text{10}\) He has initiated new investigations into serious misconduct at half the rate of the three previous administrations.\(^\text{11}\) He has even tolerated sheriff’s deputy gangs, like the “Executioners” and “Banditos” in East L.A., that perpetrate violence against the community.\(^\text{12}\)

Villanueva has sought to shroud LASD in secrecy. He has blocked previously-afforded access to the OIG and, in a truly Trumpian step, initiated a criminal investigation of the Inspector General for attempting to carry out his oversight duties.\(^\text{13}\) In response to the California Supreme Court decision allowing him to turn over to the District Attorney a “Brady list” of 300 problem deputies, he tweeted saying he will comply with the decision by not compiling such a list.\(^\text{14}\) He has completely failed to disclose records of deputy misconduct to which families and the public are entitled under state transparency laws, including SB 1421, prompting the ACLU of Southern California and the L.A. Times to bring suit against him.\(^\text{15}\) He has repeatedly defied the COC’s subpoenas—as well as the will of the people of Los Angeles County who overwhelmingly voted for Measure R.\(^\text{16}\) One of the subpoenas he has refused to comply with involves the investigation into his cover up of deputies’ taking and showing off gruesome photos of the helicopter crash that killed Kobe and Gianna Bryant, leading Vanessa Bryant to sue him.\(^{17}\)

During the protests following the killings of Andres Guardado and Dijon Kizzee, sheriff’s deputies have consistently brutalized and repressed the First Amendment rights of protestors, for example recently “kettling” a National Lawyers Guild press conference, grabbing a Legal Observer, and severely beating protestors.\(^{18}\) On September 12, LASD abused and arrested NPR reporter Josie Huang; Villanueva then made false claims that were directly contradicted by video evidence.\(^{19}\) The National Lawyers Guild has sued LASD over its unlawful use of force in these protests and recently filed an application for a temporary restraining order.\(^{20}\)

In sum, Sheriff Villanueva and LASD have been systematically abusing their power and violating Angelenos’ constitutional and statutory rights. Last week, the COC unanimously passed a “vote of no confidence” resolution urging Villanueva’s resignation.\(^{21}\) Therefore, we request that, as the California Attorney General with “direct supervision” over the sheriff, see Cal. Const. art. V, § 13, you intervene and initiate a pattern or practice investigation into LASD.

Sincerely,
